

acknowledgments and credits

I consulted with many people while working on this book. Some read and commented on my work in progress, others helped me find information, recordings, and photographs. Their help was of great value, and our conversations sparked many fruitful ideas. In particular, I wish to thank Steve Cox for his unflagging support, enthusiasm, and indispensable assistance. I also gratefully acknowledge the contributions of the following:

Scores of musicians have inspired me on my path. Chief among them are the elders and masters I have known well or even met briefly, for there is nothing as enlightening as sharing music, person to person, with one who has lived and breathed it for most of their life. These include Tom Byrne, Tom McCaffrey, Michael J. Kennedy, Phil McGing, Josie McDermott, Matt Molloy, Seamus Tansey, Cathal McConnell, Mary Bergin, Kevin Burke, Martin Hayes, Frankie Gavin, James Kelly, Liz Carroll, Seamus Connolly, Tommy Peoples, Paddy Keenan, Micheál Ó Domhnaill, Tríona Ní Dhomhaill, Paddy O'Brien, Noel Hill. . .the list could go on and on.

A special thank you to all of my students, who continually prompt me to think more deeply, examine more closely and stretch my understanding further.

Finally and foremost, my heartfelt thanks to my parents, my family, and my friends for seeing me through.
